SPECIAL FEATURES

Kellam is a very special place for very special people. From the principal to the faculty to the first day sophomore, every individual is an integral part of the whole. Without any given component, the school unit is left incomplete.

Students who are athletically inclined have over fifteen sports with diversity of choice from golf to football, from field hockey to tennis. Kellam's sports in the last five years have grown in quality and accomplishments through skillful coaching and talented student athletes. The future, with continued improvement, promises to make Kellam a school to contend with in all sports.

Academically, Kellam offers a wide variety of choices surrounding basic core requirements. For the college-bound students, classes in Advanced Math, Science, History, and English are offered. SAT scores continue to improve and remain competitive, while a new sense of pride in grade excellence is obviously surfacing.

Students who are interested in more technically oriented fields have a wide variety of choices also. Within Kellam, courses such as Metals, Woods, Drafting and Electronics are offered, while at the other end of the spectrum, Homemaking, Independent Living, and Marriage and the Family offer students the ability to increase knowledge in these areas.

Extracurricular activities have also been a vital and growing, although often ignored segment, of Kellam life. Excellence in areas such as Band, Drama, and Chorus continues, with all three winning awards in state and regional competitions.

Even though students sometimes feel alone, left out, stranded to go through high school years with no recognition, Kellam, more than other schools, strives to allow every person a chance to excell.

Moments of Glory

The Knights shine brighter as every moment passes.

Kellam sports are the most popular and fun of all extracurricular activities offered. In addition to popularity, Kellam's students have seen vast improvements in most sports that exist at the school. Some sports that have greatly improved include field hockey, football, boy's and girl's tennis, boy's soccer, and gymnastics.

Football, as well as other sports, provide a benefit greater than health and recreation. For many students who would otherwise not attend, outstanding athletes find an avenue towards a college education through sports. Under the guidance of Coach Harper Donahoe, football has become powerful again at Kellam.

Picked as the number one contender in the preseason polls, the Knights proved themselves worthy with a 23-7 victory over First Colonial. The Knights remained number one until losing a hard fought battle with Kempsville who went on to win the Beach District title.

Outstanding spring sports accomplishments were many, but one of the best was when new Head Coach Jimmy Dinardo not only gave the Knight baseball team a respectable season record, but at one time during the latter part of the season shared a three-way tie for first place.

Field hockey Coach Debbie Strasbaugh has consistently improved her teams, and this year's team was no exception. The girls lost only three games in the season, two to Kempsville and one to perennial favorite Cox. However, before losing the one game to Cox, the Knights proved their strength by winning the first game with the tough Cox team.

Cross country, although not dominant as a team, had an outstanding individual in John Murray. After an exceptional season, John placed second in regionals and won tenth place in state.

All in all, Kellam's sports achievements were accomplishments of the stars.

Mr. Ammons

State Athletic Director of the Year

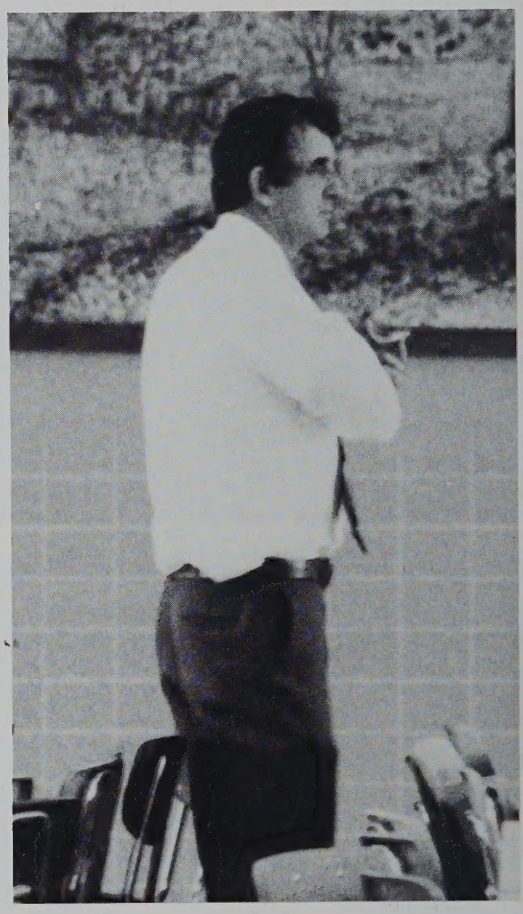
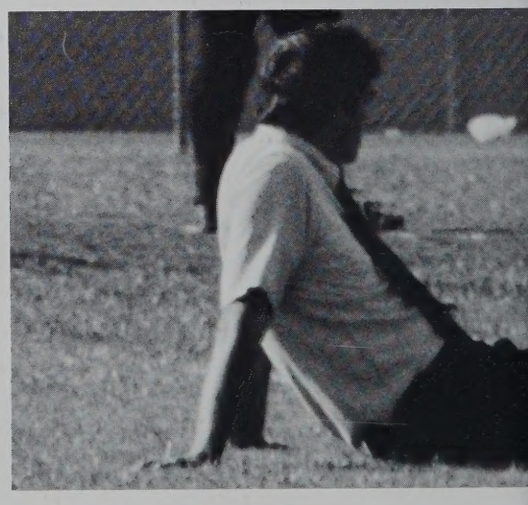
Mr. Ammons gives advice to Bryan Goode.

Concentration shows in every line of his profile.





Look who's sitting on the job.

Selected by the High School State Coaches Association, Mr. Roy Ammons was this year's recipient of the State Athletic Coordinator of the Year Award. After twenty-two years in the school system, Mr. Ammons received the recognition which he has well-deserved for a job well-done.

Mr. Ammons' work, as well as his dedication, is endless. Aside from making sure that the football field is in immaculate condition and checking the sound system before every home game, he sells the tickets to arriving spectators.

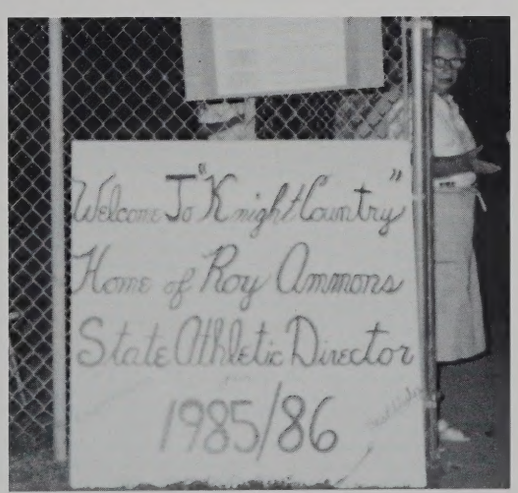
Other chores include approving school-sponsored posters, issuing parking stickers, and contributing to the success of our Kellam athletes by making sure that all the equipment and necessary materials are provided for a flawless event.

Of his twenty-two years, Mr. Ammons has been the Assistant Director for twelve years, and has held the position of Activities Coordinator for the past seven. He has also previously taught Health, Physical Education, and Driver's Education. He has also coached track for fifteen years, never with a losing season. Mr. Ammons has also coached Junior Varsity football for seven years.

"Kellam has the best kids overall in the schools because they have feelings toward other people," states Mr. Ammons.

As the students have feelings for one another, they certainly are proud of Mr. Ammons for his winning of a great honor, and for all of the things that he contributes to Kellam. This shows that Mr. Ammons has indeed earned a place among the stars.

Just another part of the job.



The sign says it all.

"The Pride of Virginia Beach"

Over the past decade at Kellam, the marching program has gradually increased in success each year. The "Marching Knights" were labeled "The Pride of Virginia Beach" eight years ago by its band director, Mr. Correll. Kellam has truly been the "Pride of Virginia Beach" each year since that time.

The "Marching Knights" have represented Kellam all over the eastern section of the United States. From Orlando, Florida, in the Contest of Champions to the Six Flags Over Georgia Festival. From the National Dogwood Arts Festival in Tennessee to the National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C. The Knights have also represented Kellam in numerous festivals throughout Virginia and North Carolina. This school year alone, the "Marching Knights" represented six marching festivals throughout Virginia and North Carolina. At the Charlottesville Cavalcade, the Knights earned second place band and first place color guard. In the Danville "Trojan Invitational," the "Marching Knights" earned third place band, first place drum line, first place drum majors and second place color guard; in the James Madison University Parade of Champions, our band won fourth place overall and competed with bands from a six state area. At the Tidewater Festival of Marching Bands, our band earned first in its class, along with first place drum majors, first place flag guard, first place rifles, best overall color guard, top music award and top general effect award. The "Marching Knights" participated that evening in the open finals competition and received fourth overall.

The fifth festival the Knights attended was the Eastern North Carolina Marching Band Festival in Roanoke Rapids, North Carolina, where the band defended its title of Grand Champion for the third consecutive year. The Knights placed first in its class and first overall among 43 bands from throughout Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. The "Marching Knights" also received best flags, best rifles, best drum majors, best drum line and best general effect and music awards. The final competition of the season was in Cary, N.C. — where our band earned first in its AAA classification in field show and parade. The band also earned first places in woodwinds, brass line, flags and overall color guard. The band also received the award for the highest music score of class AAA.

Homecoming

A Night to Remember

A night to remember . . . It had rained on and off during the day. Was the game going to be postponed? When would it be played? Would the parade go on and the queen be crowned? Would the band perform? These were all questions on the day of the big game. Finally the rain stopped. It was announced that the game and the crowning of the queen would go on, but the parade and band performance were cancelled.

The Homecoming Court made its rounds of the track, all waiting in suspense for the naming of the Queen . . .

The 1985-86 Homecoming queen was Billie Boyd. Her escort, Travis Matyiko, met her at the field entrance wearing his football uniform. Billie and Travis, along with many others, were happy with the choice.

After the crowning, the Knights came back on the field. They finished the game with a score of 49-12 over Granby, and the crowd and team were ecstatic.

The night was concluded with a Homecoming Dance, instead of a reception as in previous years. A lot of time went into all aspects of the Homecoming game, and it was seen to be a great success.

The Rising Stars

The fifth full-length production by the Kellam Thespian Troupe was entitled Rehearsal for Murder. Auditions were held in mid-September with seventy-five students trying out for thirteen roles.

Senior Rob Hines played the lead role of Alex Dennison and had twelve supporting characters in the play. The play was highly successful even after the conflicts with the scheduling of football regionals.

The Tidewater Thespians wrote their own production titled "Make Believe It's You." The show was performed at the Virginia Theatre Conference in Charlottesville and the Virginia Thespian Conference in Alexandria.

In the competition at the Virginia Thespian Conference, Heather Barclay won first place in the solo musical category, and Mike Aaglan won first place in the solo dance category.

Stiff Competition from Twelve Classes

Every year, the United Way sponsors a Fund Drive that traditionally earns a large amount of money that goes towards charity, and this year was no exception.

The students get involved in a heated competition in their third bell classes to see which class can raise the most money. Some of the teachers have come up with winning tactics.

Five time champion, Mr. Wicks, again won this year. Thanks to warfare including spies in the bushes and guards posted at the windows and doors, Mr. Bill Wicks collected a gross total of $561.03.

This year, with a late surge, Mr. Wicks and his class overtook second place Miss Trainor's class, while he claimed all along that he would be lucky to break $100.00. Miss Trainor totalled an impressive $414.59.

Something to Cheer About
New Coach Leads to Successful Season

Three up, three down. Kellam is up to bat.

Bobby Litton's windup . . . awesome to behold.

Although Yankee Stadium and the Kellam baseball field are a few states apart, both locations do have a lot in common. This statement is not meant to sound like a familiar advertisement, but it does, however, hold truth. Both playing fields hold great, or sometimes not so great, memories; and both contain a very proud tradition of fine players. This tradition was kept alive as the boy's baseball team took to the field.

The teams most impressive events of the season were the winning of five straight games and the three way tie for first place along with Green Run and First Colonial. They, however, made the extra effort that made everyone proud.

Quotable Quotes

"Hard work always pays off in the end."

Coach Jimmy DiNardo, first year coach for the Knights, led the team to an exciting 7-5 wrap-up with such thrillers as Mike Cullipher, Pete Palazzo, Bobby Litton, and Mike Kinzel. Many newcomers added vitality to the team.

Together the team made the stars shine on Kellam with a new similarity: one that shows that hard work always pays off in the end.

Lady Knights Stretch But Fall Just a Bit Short

Although most of the girls from the 84'-85' softball team agree that they never really reached their full potential, they were indeed quite a group of talented players. While overall, the season was disappointing, it still had it's high points, such as two close games against Beach District Power Cox, and a close game with the State Runner-up, in which the girls lost only by an unearned run.

The girls will continue to work harder and harder under the firm, but understanding leadership of Coach Durant. Coach Durant believes that next year her team's records will improve greatly with players like Beanie Felch, Kim Costello, Theresa Jones, and Jessica Epstein. As we look back at the 84'-85' season, we should remember the phrase "Defeat may test us, But it need not stop us."

The jaguar may be the fastest animal in other parts of the world, but in Virginia Beach, the Boys' Track team proved to be a contender. With grace and agility, the team captured third in district, while some members strided their way to state.

*Some of our most outstanding players consisted of Brian Goode, who sprinted to sixth place in the 100m dash in regionals and was considered one of the best sprinters in the state. He helped out on the 400m relay team, which received fourth place in regionals. Richard Davis was also on the 400m relay team and was revered as the most valuable player, jumper, runner, and hurdler. What can be said about a team that was expected to have very few good athletes? Quite a bit, considering somewhere along the line these few good athletes turned out to be many good athletes. Some of these athletes went as far as state finals, while others made it to regionals. Yes, girls track is the subject at hand.

The team had the third place beach district wrapped up behind First Colonial and Kempsville, but a few girls kept jumping, running, and throwing their way forward. Michelle Arnold, who was considered by Ms. Cannon to be one of the best runners to ever attend Kellam, qualified in the state finals in both the 800m and 3200m runs. In state she received a third place medal in the 800m and in the regionals a second place in the 3200m.

The outstanding 400m relay team, that went all the way to states was composed of Theresa Chandler, Suzzette Johnson, and Genora Townsend.

Opponents Fall As the Knights Head For Their Goal

Danny Spears works his way upfield to lead the Knights to victory.

Soccer an American sport? Hardly. However, its popularity is increasing more rapidly as the years pass. Around Virginia Beach, soccer is a sport where students can compete using their skills of balance, versatility, and agilities.

Although the Boys' Soccer team was not composed of "Peles," they pulled together to complete a difficult season. Their incentive to win earned them a 6-7 record, which is not a bad record considering the competition.

Coach Benzel developed such athletes as Danny Crafton, Brad Alexander, Alan Fetters, Dean Austin, and foreign exchange student Raul Bercovitz. The most outstanding of these layers was Brad Alexander, according to Coach Benzel. "Brad is one of the better players. He is a scoring threat from anywhere on the field," states Coach Benzel. However, the whole team played a part this season, and kept their confidence strong. Coach Benzel looks for a winning season next year.

Boy's Tennis Swing Out A Much Improved Season

Improvement. Progress. Rebuilding. These words offer promise to teams with less than impressive past records . . . and so they were used in the preseason of the boys tennis team. This season, the offered promise was fulfilled. With skill and determination the tennis team dismissed the humiliating 0-12 record of the past season and set a new goal of success.

1985-86 Sports

Debra Etheridge prepares a cross court killer.

Continuing the winning tradition at Kellam, all Knight teams put forth a fine effort. Their awards and accomplishments speak for themselves.

With spring sports came successful seasons in many activities. Most noteworthy is the baseball team. Despite being young, they were engaged in a three-way tie for first place towards the end of the season. They finished with an 11-8 record. This was quite an accomplishment for first-year coach Jimmy Dinardo.

Boy's track sped to a successful season. They finished with a 3-3 record. They, too, were a young team. This promising season paid off for the talented squad. The boy's soccer team kicked itself to a 6-7 season including a number of impressive victorie

Girl's soccer, on the other hand, finish 2-10 and have a rebuilding season ahead them. The boy's tennis team finished 4-8, by Tom Lomonaco and Chris Meiss Coach David Weiss expects better succe next year.

Fall sports were led by football, wh finished 7-3 overall, 3-3 in the district. A enjoying a successful season was the fi hockey team. The Lady Knights wrapped a winning record and made a legitimate for the Beach title. Coach Debbi Strau baugh was very pleased with the 11-4 cord. Ending with two late season victories, the football team improved its winning record to 7-3.

The only problem with the impressive record was that the three losses to Kempsville, Cox, and Green Run, were all Beach District rivals. The two best games, according to Coach Harper Donahoe, were the opening game victory over First Colonial and the 49-12 Homecoming romp of Granby. Despite this, Coach Donahoe was "not entirely" pleased with the season's outcome.

"We had a successful season, but not successful enough to win the Beach," stated defensive back Bryan Goode. Goode's best personal performance also came against First Colonial. He ran 80 yards on a quarterback sneak for one touchdown, and caught another from John Granby on a halfback option. Goode also intercepted a Patriot pass and returned it 27 yards.

Junior running back-quarterback John Granby and Bryan Goode, All-District selections, also participated in the team's success and deserve recognition.*

Speaking on the outlook for next year, Coach Donahoe said, "we will win the District Championship next year."

Almost To The Top

With an impressive record at 11-4, including 4-0 out of the District record, the girls Field Hockey team made an impressive bid at capturing the Beach District Championship.

Thanks to the play of two of the team's most valuable players, Diane Brown and Patty Boyle, the Lady Knights enjoyed a terrific season. 39 goals were scored this season. A school record was set by the scoring of 7 goals in one game. Boyle led the team with 17 goals on the year, and Brown and Laura Felch each contributed with 9 assists.

This year, the team improved to a strong third place in the Beach. Fifth year Coach Debbie Strausbaugh deserves much recognition for her role in the success.

Coach Strausbaugh tabs the highpoint of the year as the season opener, a 2-1 upset of Cox. "It was very important because they hadn't been beaten in 5 years in District play." She also thinks very highly of the victory in the Tabb invitational Tournament.

Some other outstanding team members were Seniors Laura Felch and Dianne Filo, juniors Karen Merkel, Michelle Kadlec, and Anabel Felix, and sophomore Michelle Bybee.

Personalities and types that exist in the student population at Kellam are diverse. The lifestyles vary from rich to poor, from academically excellent to ignorant, and all points in between.

Even though the purpose of high school is education, it serves as a ground for much more in the life of a student. Some members of Kellam have nothing other than school to look forward to, while others would rather be anywhere but at school.

In school, individuals have many other ways to express themselves that do not include academics. Over thirty clubs at Kellam are offered for the students who are not athletically inclined. For those who are sports minded, over fifteen sports are possible for participation.

Another aspect of life that has proven important, but has gone ignored, is the extended lunch hour. Through using the time wisely by being tutored, many Kellam students have watched poor grades steadily improve.

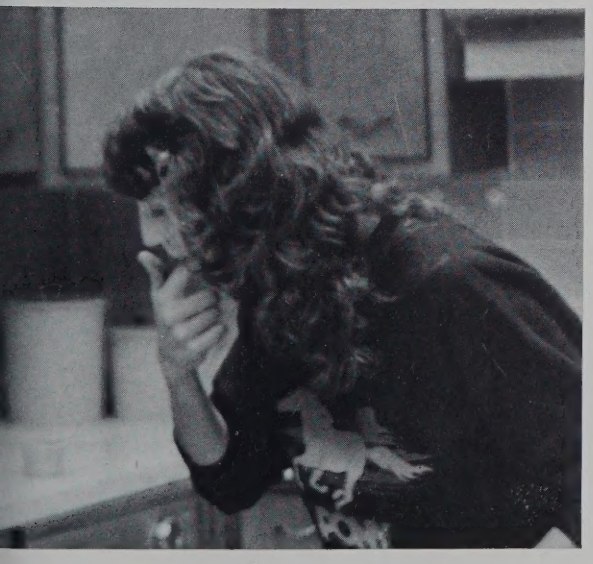
Now what would a school be like without students? It would just be a place where a large number of teachers go to waste their time. Without students around, a teacher would have no lessons to plan, papers to grade, or excuses to listen to, thus creating an atmosphere of complete solitude.

Kellam High School has greatly diminished this incredible problem of uninterrupted boredom. This school has brought students from all aspects of life to add fun and enthusiasm to a typical day at Kellam.

Not only do the students at Kellam contribute excitement to an uneventful environment, some of them possess the characteristic of unselfishness.

Students have given of themselves when their classmates needed extra tutoring in a variety of subjects, gone out of their way to help members of the faculty, and contribute to the future and the well-being of many other students.



Socializing is very important in Study Hall.

She also works very diligently on her studies. She has been on the honor roll since elementary school, and has been in the Honor Society in the eleventh and twelfth grades. Kim has also had the honor of being in the "Who's Who of High School Students."

She has been a representative of the Hugh O'Brian Leadership Foundation and has been elected Student of the Month twice, one time at Princess Anne Junior High and once at Kellam High School. Kim has also been involved with the Student Council Association.

The Image of the Dumb Jock Broken

Many guys who excell in sports are thought of as "dumb jocks," but in this case it isn't true. John, who was awarded MVP on the football team, is academically gifted.

His grades, in such classes as Physics and superior English, have given him the privilege of being a member of the Honor Roll.

Wrestling and football became a part of John's life, earlier than most students. At the age of five, John first wrestled. In the tenth grade, it led him to capture third in the state in one hundred eighty-five pounds.

In eleventh grade, he wrestled heavyweight and won second in the state. As a senior, John shot for first and won.

When eight years old, John started playing football. In eleventh grade, he made the First Team All-Beach and All-Tidewater team. In the twelfth, John won all these and added becoming a member of the All-Region team.

After John graduates, he plans to play football at UVA where he'll major in business financing. When playing football in the future, he would like to play offensive or defensive tackle.

Off to Work . . .

Being in high school and being a teenager always calls for a little extra ingredient — money. Being a teenager in the 1980's is a little bit harder than it was for good ole' mom and dad, where one could see a movie for a dime and enjoy a Coke for a quarter.

These days, unless one has got money, he often finds himself strapped and having to live off of his parents. When it comes down to that students always resort to one other alternative — jobs.

Jobs provide responsibility and money for students, both of which could be saved for later in life. Students who hold jobs are taught many helpful values such as priorities, discipline, responsibility, and self motivation.

In essence a student is getting paid for learning these values and for helping out someone as well. Money seems to be the best reward for a job, whether a student wants to save for college, a car, or just blow it all on a date.

KELLAM SLEEPERS

As the long and boring school day slowly passes more and more students seem to fall off into wonderland. During any class one can find students with heads down and eyes closed.

Several things may contribute to this "PROBLEM". First of all, some students may not get enough sleep at night. Many work jobs as well as going to school and participating in extra-curricular activities all day.

Secondly, students may find it hard to stay awake in classes that may not necessarily interest them (physics, algebra, English, etc.). Many teachers find this annoying and have resorted to idle threats and detentions. Some students are awake physically, but are actually in another state of mind quite similar to sleeping.

What could be done about this "Problem" in area high schools, and schools abroad? Teachers could attempt to make class more interesting by amusing the class and being playful, yet not neglecting the curriculum; some teachers at school have been able to consistantly entertain and educate their class with limited snoozers.

Victor Smith can't believe the large turnout for the Ring Dance.

Ring Dance

The class of '86 Ring Dance was a huge success. All of the Sophomore and Junior years were dedicated to raising enough money to have an exceptional Ring Dance.

It was held at the Dam Neck Officers Club on May 4, 1985. The food spreads were delicious, and each table was adorned with fresh flowers and candles. The bar was fully stocked . . . with different flavored sodas, of course.

Near the end of the night, the long-awaited moment had arrived. It was time to receive the rings. Under the archway went junior after junior. When they reached the table, Mr. Ammons or Mr. Hill handed them their specially designed class ring. Some people left soon after the rings were passed out, but some stayed on and engaged in the tradition of getting the ring turned 86 times to the right for good luck.

The juniors enjoyed their ring dance last year. And as seniors, they knew their senior prom would be a big success.

Kellam's Drum Majors

"The Pride of Virginia Beach": Kellam Marching Knights. It took a lot of work from a lot of people to reach that point.

Two of those very important people have been drum majors since 1984. Kristen Gillispie and Laura Bell take their job seriously and watching the two of them work together shows how much pride they have in the band.

In 1984-85, they received first place awards at Cary, AMU, and Roanoke Rapids; plus a second place at Charlottesville.

In 1985-86, they received first place at Cary, Charlottesville, Tidewater, and Roanoke Rapids.

Kristen, in addition to being an excellent drum major, has also made her mark as a fine musician in the band.

She is a section leader in the woodwinds department and in order to earn that honor, one must show qualities of leadership and responsibility in addition to having an outstanding proficiency on a particular instrument.

Kristen's playing abilities have also earned her regional placement, and a spot in the state band.

Cafeteria Crew

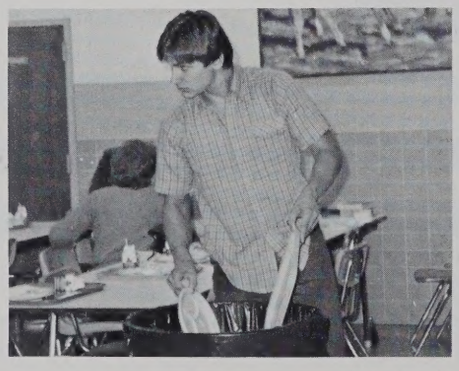
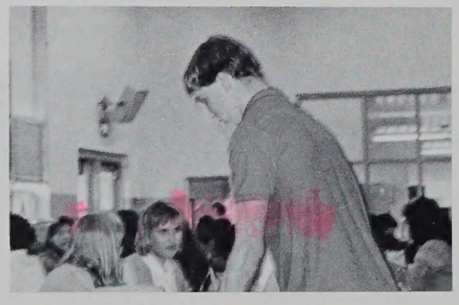
Everyday, instead of goofing off after they eat, ten guys use their time productively.

Under the supervision of Mr. Donahoe and Mr. Wicks they take up trays students have left on the tables. During 5th bell lunch, Mike Porter, Jimmy Lanier, Art Mitchell, Jim Loesback, and Steve Jahnke do this job. During 6th bell lunch, Bill Sowers, George Garrett, Tony Cheracles, Bill Rosenhauer, and Sean Kopaczewski carry out the task.

The only rewards received by these students are a free ice cream on Friday a free yearbook at the end of the year, and a pat on the back from Mr. Wicks and Mr. Donahoe.

Mr. Wicks and Mr. Donahoe practice the huddle with football players.





Taking up trays is a routine for one of "Mr. Wick's boys."

Trays pile higher as he makes his way to the trashcan.

Spirit Week

The usual dress for a "nerd".

A tourist strikes at Kellam High.

Although a bit dampened by the weather, this year's spirit week was, as always, a festive event.

To begin the week, students wore college sweatshirts. Of those represented, UVA, Longword, Va. Tech, and, of course, Pungo University were the most popular.

Tuesday was twin day and friends dressed alike, creating the illusion of seeing double.

Getting off the bus Wednesday, one obviously knew that it was Tourist day. Throughout the day People with lounge chairs, beach towels, suntan lotion, and even pet alligators were found sightseeing in the halls.

Thursday brought clash day and a variety of plaid socks, checked shirts, polka-dotted pants, and flowered shoes.

Friday, the last day of Spirit Week, black and gold clothed students named Kellam in honor of Spirit Day.

Dressing up was just a part of this year's Spirit Week. Although the Homecoming was a bit wet, it didn't stop the mighty Knights from pounding the Granby Comets.

People Helping

Kellam students are helping each other with both academics and athletics.

This year, the students can take advantage of peer tutoring.

Students who excell in certain classes get together and push others to do more and better work. Most students agree that quite often, it is easier to understand difficult work when explained by a peer.

Athletes also agreed that when working out or running, a second person running or working out with weights is a great boost.

Marketing in New York

Twenty-two Marketing and Fashion Merchandising students traveled to New York this fall for three days via a private motor coach to study the world's greatest marketplace. From the moment of boarding the bus in Kellam's parking lot, the air was filled with the excitement of New York merchandising.

The Statue of Liberty greeted the group and produced a moment of pride. Kellam DECA's name is inscribed inside the proud lady with all the individuals and groups that helped raise funds to refurbish her.

The New York Stock Exchange, where students viewed the financial heartbeat of our country, was filled with the education that can only come from first hand experiences.

Students also visited the Fashion Institute of Technology where the history of Fashion merchandising was condensed for study.

The World Trade Towers offers a birds-eye view of the city and houses the offices of merchandisers from around the world. It is apparent that much of the world's commerce begins or ends in offices of New York.

Every facet of the retailing process was observed in New York: Food Marketing,General Merchandising, Hotel-motel management and services marketing. The splendor of New York will never be forgotten by those who ventured to the Big Apple.

Sideline Socializing

Going to a football game is the perfect way to start a perfect weekend. The '85 season showed some of the best turnout of fans in a long time.

A football game is the best place to meet friends, old and new. Another aspect of the football games is to find out where that weekend's raging parties are. Finally, the biggest reason for going to the football games is to cheer the brave Knights on to V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!!

Michelle Englehard — Involved at Kellam

Michelle Englehard was selected this year as one of the two members of the homecoming court in the Junior Class.

Michelle excels in cheerleading, in which she is a co-captain along with senior Kim Black. In her sophmore year she was a member of the gymnastics team.

A Day Without Thrashing . . .

"Skating is back," some might say, but if you ask a true skater, he'll tell you, "It's been here all along." Two years ago the city had to outlaw the building of skate ramps and skating because the sport was expanding too rapidly. Skaters responded by building skate ramps in places that were isolated enough to prevent anyone from finding them unless they knew exactly where they were.

Eventually, the city opened three skateboard ramps that they owned and operated. These ramps were Lynhaven, Redwing, and Mt. Trashmore.

The ramp at Mt. Trashmore is one of the most sizable in the area. It stands over 10 feet high and is 32 feet wide. It is constantly bombarded by skaters who are anxious to display their tricks. V.B. Trash is a sticker that automatically identifies Mt. Trashmore's cronies.

Junior Ray exclaimed, "Man, you just got to blast and go for it!" in his opinion there's no room for wimps in this sport. Another junior, Rob Cox, was heard to say, "Sometimes you fall, but that's part of life; after all, it's only flesh."

Every year skating gets to be bigger and bigger with newer and harder tricks.

Bryan Goode

Besides being an outstanding athlete in football, Bryan Goode also enjoyed a successful track season. In indoor track, he finished 10th in state in the 300 meter dash, and in outdoor track he went to state in the 100 meter and 200 meter dashes, and the four man 100 relay.

Goode is expected to be a major force in the Knight's track and football teams, and will most likely be one of the best sprinters in the state.

John Granby

John Granby, is a multi-talented man. He participates in many athletic activities, such as track, basketball, and football. Last year, during the football season John Granby reached his goal of 1,000 yards, but he didn't quite succeed in making 1,000 yards this year.

In track, he participates in the 440 relay, the mile relay, and the hundred yard dash.

On Kellam High's basketball team, John Granby plays the position of forward.

Not only does he do well in sports, but he is also good academically.

Granby, also has many friends, he is always high-spirited and is never seen without a smile on his face.

Altogether John Granby is an all-around Kellam student, and is believed by his peers to be fulfilling his goals.

Richard Davis

Richard Davis, junior, was involved in all three of the sports seasons this year.

On the football team he successfully played the position of flanker, and also was the punt and kick returner.

In basketball he was the team's starting point guard.

Richard participates not only in indoor track but in outdoor as well. He was also named MVP of last spring's outdoor team.

All together, in track, he competes in 6 different running and jumping events.

Track coach, Mr. Graham, stated that Richard has extraordinary jumping ability and quick reflexes, which help to contribute to his great versatility.

The Big Orange Beast

It's almost 7 a.m., the dew is still fresh on the grass, yet some students are not sleeping. They are waiting for the school bus.

Approximately 60% of the Kellam High School's students ride buses. The number of people on the buses range from as many as fifty-two as to as few as six.

Some people enjoy the quietness of a bus ride, so they sit in the front and read, study, or catch up on missed sleep. In the middle section of the bus, most people converse quietly or sit and stare silently out the window. The back of the bus is for those people who are awake and rowdy enough to joke each other and carry on conversations that are not quiet and toned down.

The bus ride is something that most students have experienced since kindergarten. The way most break this daily ritual is when they get a car or when one of their friends does.

Bus riders often have a problem not shared by students who have their own transportation. Almost invariably, ten to fifteen minutes before class ends at the beginning of the day, an announcement is made: "Please excuse the students from buses 47 and 332. They have just arrived at school."

Kellam, more than any other Beach school, relies on public transportation..

An important part of education, one that could not be lived without and often goes unthanked, is the bus.

Vocational Technical Institute

Vo Tech has a wide variety of classes concerning career development. A few of the classes offered are Plumbing, Auto Mechanics, Cosmetology, Commercial Arts, Nursing, and Bricklaying.

Schools in the Beach District go to Vo Tech and have morning and afternoon sessions, lasting just more than two bells.

This isn't a mandatory class, but for those seeking careers in the fields taught, it is an exciting and fun way to learn a trade.

A New Start

The first day of school usually brings about mixed emotions. The excitement of seeing friends that summer had forgotten and the actual depression of summer's end.

There's a fair amount of confusion on the first day of school. The counselors' offices are crowded with students toting all kinds of questions and requests for schedule changes. No one's quite sure of where their classes are and tend to be late to every class.

Juniors and seniors find excitement in coming back to school to harrass the underclassmen.

All in all the first day is pretty interesting. Some people change; some people stay the same. But school is always school.

Sophomores experience the wonders of science.

Trying to find classes is sometimes confusing to the new faces of Kellam.

A popular socializing spot is the cafeteria benches.

After spending their summers apart, two friends reunite and discuss their summers.

Bumpitty Bump . . .

Riding a bus to school is an experience of a life time. They can sit back, relax, and catch a few winks if they like. After a hard days work, all they have to do is drag their weary bodies to the bus which is ready to accomodate them. They have their choice of many comfortable seats, central air conditioning, and scenic views. Most of them engage in conversation with friends. There is a wide variety of people who ride the bus. Some are fat, skinny, short, tall, and some even stink. Thank goodness for the central air conditioning. If by chance, a bus rider is late due to traffic or bus casualties, his tardiness is excused.

Driving to school has its advantages also. Student drivers are spared the long wait at the bus stop in cold weather or rain. Most stop off at McDonalds or Seven Eleven for a bite to eat. But driving to school does have its disadvantages. Many students don't have the driving experience to handle bad weather such as heavy raining, fog, and snow. Student drivers are counted tardy when they are late regardless of the reasons.

Tidewater Challenge

Starting in 1985, the Virginia Beach School System participated in the WHRO Channel 15 Tidewater Challenge program, an academic trivia contest between several Hampton Roads schools.

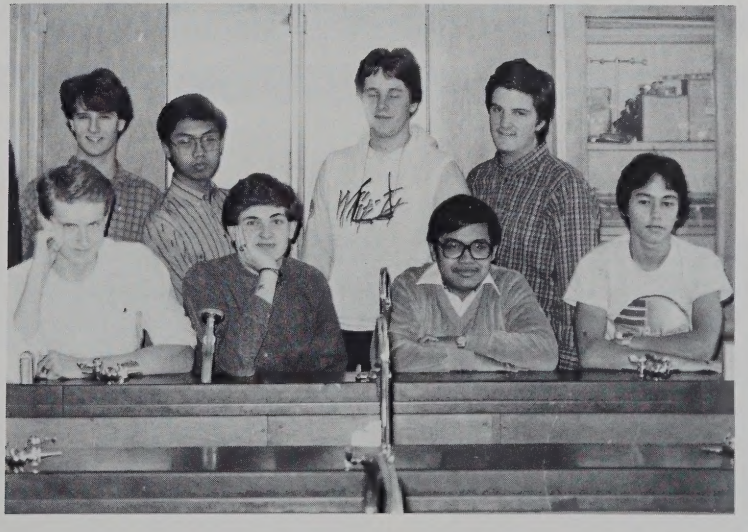
As it was the first year that Kellam could participate, the contestants were somewhat skeptical about making it past the written test.

In early September, four Kellam students, competing against students from fifty schools, took the written test that ultimately qualified thirty-two schools for the television rounds.

Our team placed sixteenth of fifty, which qualified them for the television round in September. They competed against Bruton, a Williamsburg team, in the first round.

After a close match, Bruton won, but Kellam proved it will be a serious contender for first place next year.

The eight team members came away with valuable knowledge and experience, and the achievement of being Kellam's first ever Tidewater Challenge team. The team owes much of this knowledge to the team's coach, Mr. Multer, who helped the Kellam students prepare for each round. Our team for the television competition was: Glenn McClanan, captain, Joe Meissel, Paul Phillips, and Francisco Domingo.



The proud members of Kellams Tidewater Challenge group assemble for the severe test.

Hurricane Gloria

A storm, like anything unusual, would add some excitement to an ordinary school day.

No matter where one went, the storm was the main topic. As time passed, the hurricane grew to become one of the strongest hurricanes of the century.

Despite the protest of many parents and administrators, students went to school that Thursday. In the six days that Gloria approached Virginia Beach, the hurricane reached wind speeds of over one-hundred fifty-five miles per hour and was up to three-hundred miles wide. Many people in low-lying areas were evacuated to safety shelters.

A number of people seeking shelter came to Kellam High School. The fact that the school was open meant that the janitorial staff and the administration had to spend the night in an unusual place.

It was an experience that will not be soon forgotten. After all, how many places could one be served McDonald's hamburgers and french fries with Milton's pizza during the strongest hurricane of the century?

Lisa Fetters

Lisa Fetters was chosen as one of the sophomore attendants for Homecoming '85. Lisa is always smiling, and she is rarely seen not being bubbly and enthusiastic. As a Freshman, she was chosen to be one of Kellam's cheerleaders. In her future years at Kellam, Lisa will probably prove to be an asset to the school.

HACKEY SACK

A small round-shaped bag, like a bean-bag but smaller, stuffed with little soft balls of puff to make it softer and movable.

This is a very fun, energetic sport for some high school students at Kellam. If you can get your body to move and hit the sack in the direction that it's traveling, you will manage to keep the ball in the air.

Soccer also plays a part in this sport. If you can play soccer hackey sack will come easy as long as you don't use your hands.

It can be played by guys and girls if you dare to go against the best.

It gets rid of the energy and tension built up during school.

This sport is recommended for those who enjoy agility, and can move with skill and versatility.

It's Chowtime

Lunch: the highlight of the day at Kellam High School.

People can be seen socializing in the halls, lounging around the cafeteria and library, or taking in the natural beauty of Kellam's front lawn.

The more daring participants of the lunch crowd may eat the fine cuisine prepared by our gourmet chefs served in the cafeteria.

A select few, who are fortunate to live near the site of Kellam, are granted the privilege of a home-cooked meal during the lunch bell. These select individuals are the envy of the other students for the gracious right to dine at home.

Although lunch is a well deserved break in the agenda of the day for most students, a few have humbly given up their leisure time to help a struggling classmate with his studies. Others volunteer their services under the ever watchful eyes of Mr. Wicks and Mr. Donahoe in the responsibility of cleaning up after the other students in the cafeteria.

Lunch gives each individual a time to relax from the monotonous routine of the school day and a time to enjoy themselves in the midst of a hectic day of studying at Kellam.

Gymnast Extraordinaire

It seems that almost everyone at Kellam has heard of Lori Lebo.

Lori began gymnastics training nine and a half years ago at Allentown Parkettes, then Berk's Gymnastic Academy, and finally Gymstrada and Jean Wallace's Studio — both located in Virginia Beach.

Since training, she has been in many competitions, such as the Sweetheart Invitational in Idaho, the St. Louise Invitational in Montreal, Quebec, and placed sixth against Mary Lou Retton during last year's Olympic tryouts.

As for her future, she plans to go to college and then go on to become a physical therapist. Good luck!

Lori, while other gymnastics members practice other routines, works on the balance beam.

Even in a room full of activity, Lori Lebo keeps her concentration while searching for that "10."

Vroooom!

Drivers Training is a class that a student can take during high school. At Kellam it consists of at least thirty hours of classtime and at least six hours of behind the wheel.

Classroom work is done only two days a week for one semester. Behind the wheel is for two weeks, everyday of the week.

It is required by law in the state of Virginia for all new drivers to take drivers training.

Drivers training is free of cost through the school, but when a student takes it through a private instructor it could cost anywhere from eighty to one hundred dollars.

When a student wishes to get his license, he must have his learners permit and a certificate of verification proving he passed the course.

Faculty

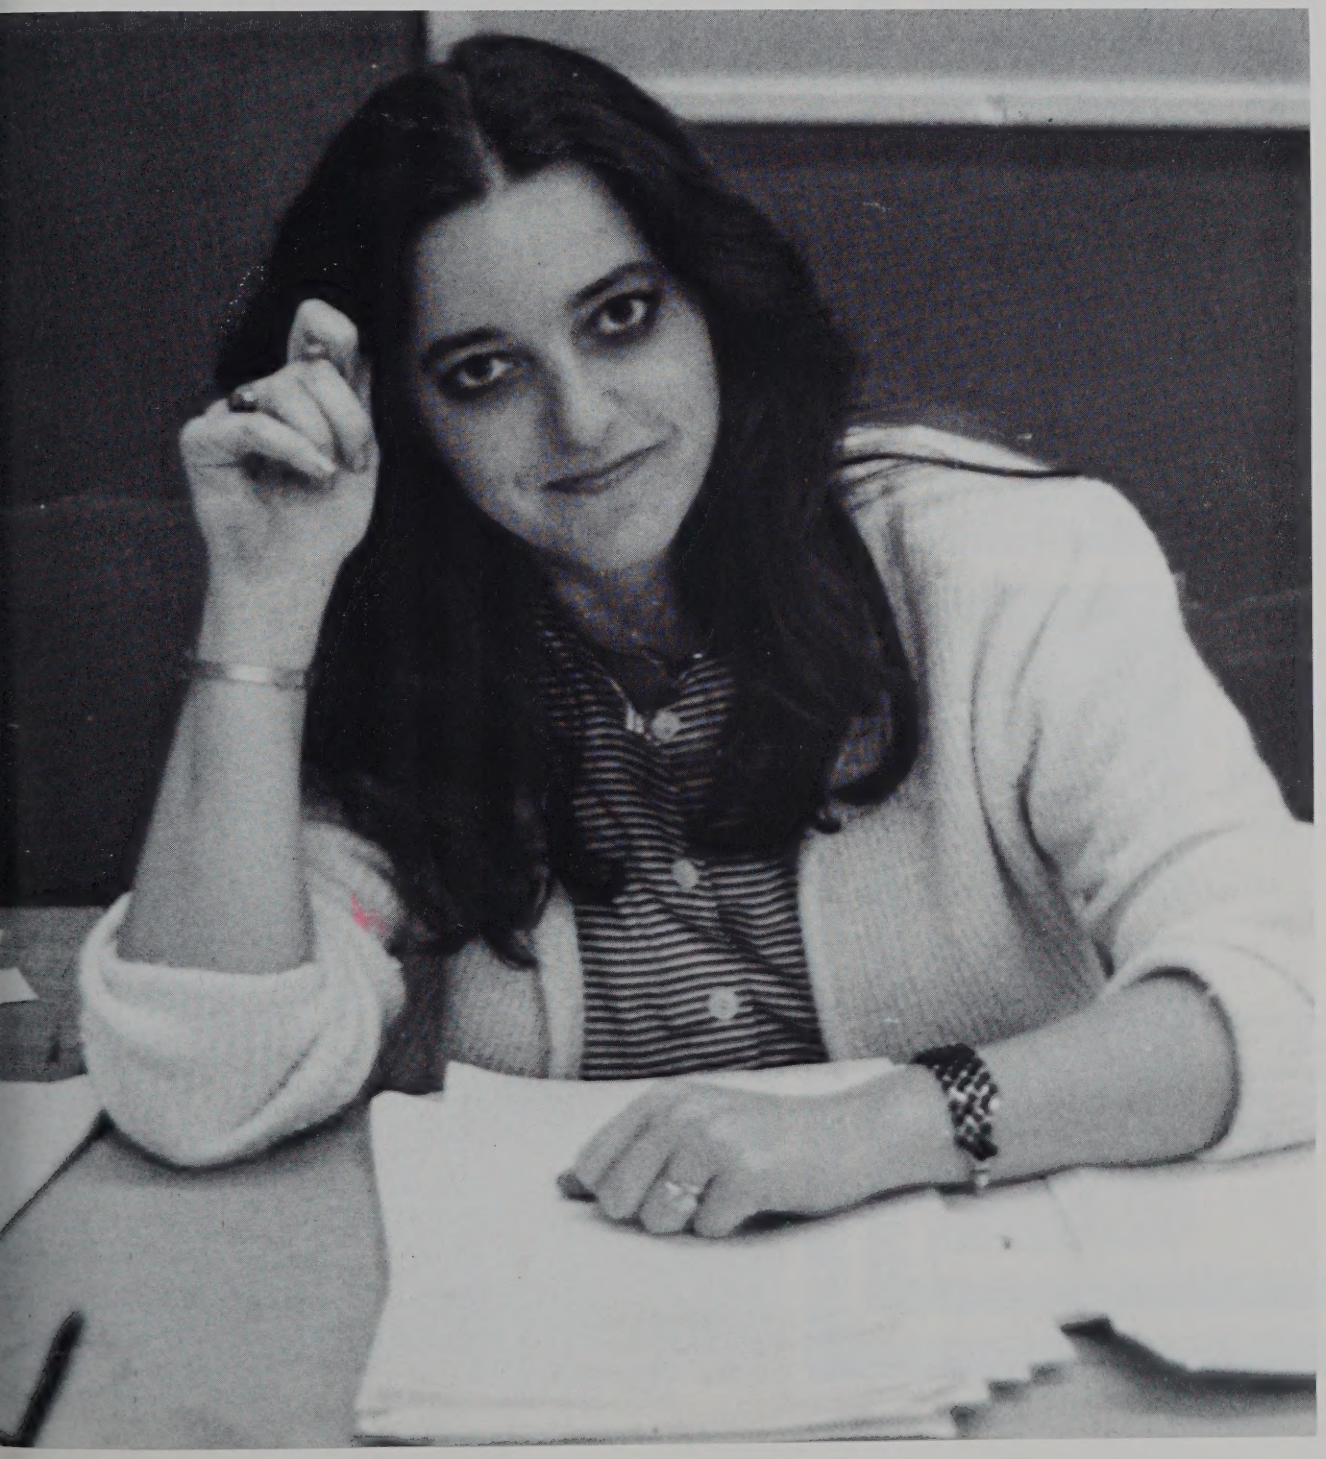
Even teachers observe the safety glasses rule.

Mrs. Wadsworth takes a break.

Mr. Webb smirks at an obviously silly comment.

The faculty of Kellam High School serves any purposes. For the sophomores and e newcomers, they help acclimate them to gh school life in the transition from junior gh. For the juniors, the ones in "the iddle-of-the-road", the faculty helps epare them for the tough Senior curric-um. And as the students enter their Senior ear, the faculty does its best to ready em for the rigors of the real world. For ome, that means providing a curriculum at allows for proficiency in a skill that will ad to a professional job. For others, it eans challenging the students academi-lly for future education. For every Kellam udent, the faculty does their best to make eir stay here an uplifting learning ex-erience, from the administrators through the cafeteria staff.

And the faculty does not work separately. They operate as a team to provide the best for you, the student. The administrators set school policy, enforce discipline, and act as a go-between for the school board and the teachers. But they could not do their job nearly as well if it were not for the hard working secretaries. The guidance counselors aid in preparing or fixing schedules, finding college information and scholarships, and helping students find a career best suited to their talents and interests. The teachers, obviously pass on information to the students. The librarians keep the library running and assist in finding books or magazines for research or for their own entertainment, as well as helping teachers with visual aids. The legendary cafeteria staff, widely known for their commitment to culinary excellence, thanklessly provide students and faculty with fine lunchtime cuisine, everyday, rain or shine. And last but not at all least, the janitors keep our school clean, keep the school's controlled, repair what goes wrong or breaks down, and watch over Kellam by night. Without the faculty as a whole, thousands of students would be deprived of a proper education. Without any one link in the chain, whether it be the administrators, the cafeteria staff, the guidance counselors, the janitors, or the teachers, Floyd E. Kellam High School would not run half as smoothly.



Ms. Scarengella relaxes after a long hard day.

Administration

The administrators and the secretaries are the heart of Kellam. Almost everything starts (teachers' mornings) or finishes (students' fights) in the office.

Mr. Hill, the principal, and Mr. Lumpkin and Mr. Lewis, are in charge of everything at Kellam from maintaining student discipline to observing teachers to attending community functions.

Mrs. Forsythe, Mrs. Boomer, and Mrs. Sears are the secretaries. They keep the office running smoothly and usually have the latest information and are always helpful in giving it. Mrs. French is Kellam's faultless bookkeeper.

The cafeteria staff.

Eyes downcast, she's preparing something good.

The head of the cafeteria, Mary Binder, prepares the faculty's daily dose of caffeine.

Smiles are still present after all the hard work.

The cafeteria workers are the most loyal and appreciated people at Kellam High.

They arrive faithfully every morning to prepare the daily meal. How would you like getting to school around 7:00 a.m. and then start cooking lunch for over 2,000 people, to be spread over three lunch periods?

And yet, after all they do for us, we fail to value the quality of the food they serve.

Despite problems and complaints, the cafeteria workers continue to do their best to bring us the nicest, most substantial meals they can.

Considering their hectic daily schedule, the cafeteria workers still find time to do the little things that make them special, such as making breakfast for the P.T.A. teachers' meetings.

Custodians

The janitorial staff at Kellam High School receive very little credit for their jobs well done. Cleaning up messes, scrubbing walls, and mopping floors isn't all the janitorial staff is required to do. They set up areas and get ready for the athletic events that are going to take place. Students who are afraid or unwilling to talk to teachers confide in Keno and Frankie Knox, who listen intently to problems, and offer advice. We should take pride in our janitorial crew here at Kellam.

During the Christmas season, Mr. Lambiotte dons his oversized red suit and parades around as Santa Claus. As soon as the season is over, his personality returns to that of a typical teacher, although not for long.

Come Spring, the sight of furry animals is not uncommon, and a familiar character at Kellam is the Easter Bunny, alias Mike Lambiotte. Once again, after the holidays, we are blessed with a mild-mannered teacher.

Kellam says thank you, Mr. Lambiotte (all three of you!)

Mary Chappell, the recipient of the Presidential Award for Excellence in Science Teaching, demonstrates the use of a microscope.

President's Choice

As a recipient of the Presidential Award for Excellence in Science Teaching, Mrs. Mary Chappell is truly an exemplary teacher. She has been a member of the staff here at Kellam since September of 1964.

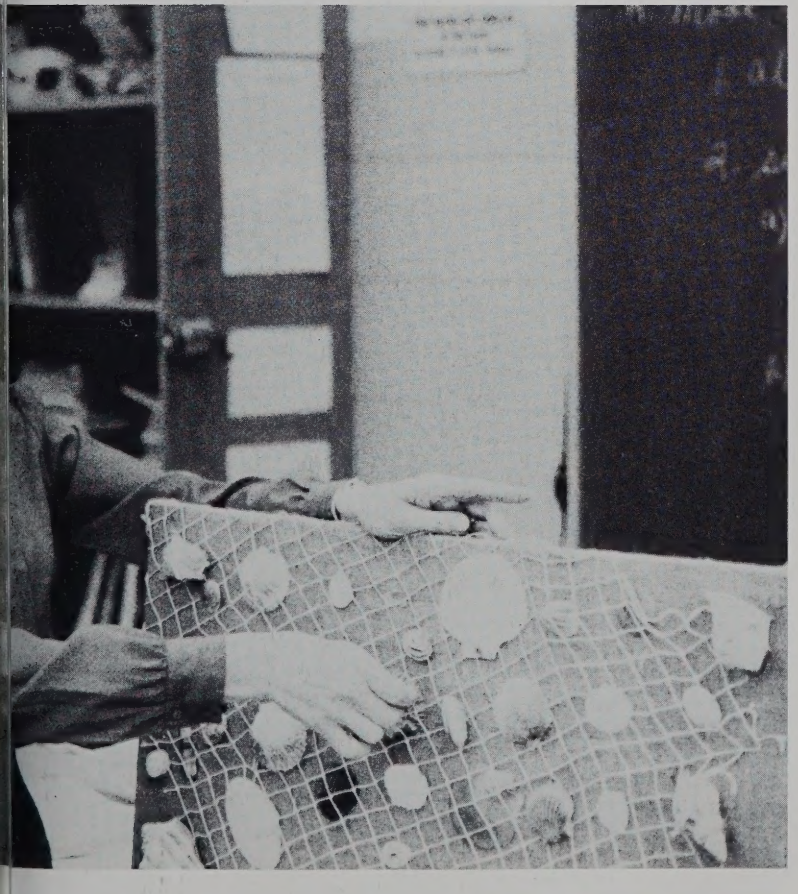
Mrs. Chappell feels that her main role as a teacher is to provide the students with an experience they can remember and apply to real life situations.

To combat student apathy Mrs. Chappell provides the students with activities such as turning the classroom into a boat or preparing a dish to eat such as squid.

Catchy phrases such as "Fungus Among Us" attract the students to the topic they're learning.

Because of her dedication to students, Mrs. Chappell also received a Resolution of Commendation from the State Board of Education as one of three outstanding science teachers in Virginia for 1985.

Because of Virginia Beach's proximity to the ocean, Mrs. Chappell finds much student interest in sea life.



Mrs. Chappell gives a detailed description of seashells found on the East Coast.

NEW TEACHERS

Joining the Kellam teaching staff this year were a number of fine teachers with various backgrounds.

First of all, the coaching staffs for two sports were improved with the acquisition of Jimmy DiNardo. DiNardo is an assistant for football, and head coach for the baseball team. DiNardo has also assumed the role of the I.S.S. instructor.

Filling the role of a new algebra teacher was Susan Stillman. Lynn Adams is now teaching English and Journalism, and is also the advisor for the Roundtable. Eugene Bowles, previously a graduate assistant, has stepped in as a history teacher. Dennis Slavinsky joins the staff as a Marine Science teacher with twelve years experience from Bayside High School. Martha Smith is also a science teacher, as is Rusty Godfrey. Daisy Hoffman is the new speech and therapy teacher.

Senorita Bosch is a full time staff member this year.

Two Honors in One Year

During the 1984-85 school year, one of Kellam's teachers was surprised on two separate occasions. This teacher, Mr. Richard Multer, received honors from the students and parents of the Kellam High School community.

His first surprise happened during the selection of new members to the Kellam National Honor Society. The current society members can choose a teacher to become an honorary member of the school's society. This selection demonstrates the honor society student's appreciation for what this teacher has provided in assisting them to become respected and learned individuals.

The second surprise occurred during the final PTA meeting of the year when this teacher was selected for its Honorary Life Member of the Virginia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

This teacher was praised for his involvement in student activities and his keen desire to share valuable knowledge with all the students he teaches.

Mr. Multer explains a theory.

Humor is a useful tactic in the classroom.

Mr. Wicks and Mr. Donahoe, friends since their college football years at UNC, are together again in the cafeteria.

Mr. Wicks, a history teacher and president of Wick Marketing outside of school, says that it is "our job to supervise the cafeteria." This means that they make sure that the trays and trash are taken up, and that the cafeteria runs smoothly to provide a pleasant eating atmosphere.

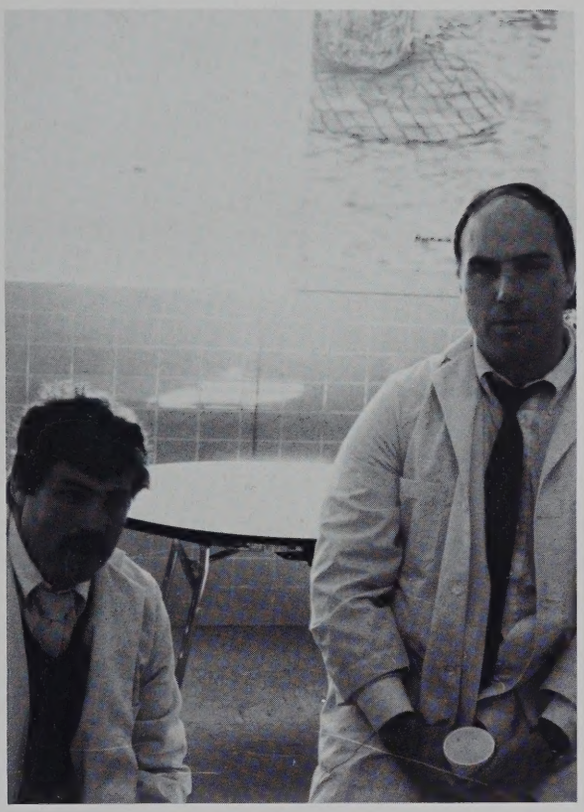
Another part of the job is to make sure that people behave. If a group of students gets to be too loud and rowdy, Mr. Wicks and Mr. Donahoe ask them to settle down or leave the "restaurant." If or when a fight breaks out, off they go to break it up.

Mr. Donahoe, a history teacher who is also a football coach, wrestling official, and small engine repairman, is in his first year as a lunch room supervisor. It has been Mr. Wicks' duty for the past five years, but the schedule this year allowed Mr. Donahoe to get in on the business.

Both Mr. Wicks and Mr. Donahoe wear white lab coats which have their name embroidered on them. The reason for wearing the coats is to prevent wear and tear on their clothing and to provide more visibility to the students.

Approximately ten guys total for both lunches take up the trays and trash. The reward they receive for doing this is ice cream on Friday and a free yearbook. Free counseling is also offered to students during lunch. When asked why they do the cafeteria duty, they do the job because "they like it."

Donahoe and Wicks — the best of friends.



Mr. Wicks exercises his authority.

Organizations

Newspaper Staff

A small but aggressive group of reporters within The Roundtable proved what a few can accomplish with determination.

Darlene Arters was named as "an excellent writer" in the Virginia High School League and Columbia Scholastic Press Associations. Junior Glen Blandford greatly assisted the paper with his prolific sports writing and Pat Gough through his well-written news and feature stories.

Writer, photographer, ad salesman, and business manager Tina Scanlan was a tireless source of enthusiasm and a major contributor throughout the year.

Video Club

Everyone knows the expression "Lights, camera, action." The Video Club has been actively involved in videotaping activities for school and for Cox Cable Channel 29.

The club gives media coverage of club projects, interesting classroom activities, special events, or student participation in unusual jobs. All of these things are done by club members who have been trained using video cameras or recorders.

The main goal this year was to highlight news events and have fund raisers such as the Valentine Gram Sale.

Library Club

The Library Club is basically a service club comprised of members who serve the staff and students of Kellam as assistants in the school library.

The club has sponsored certain school activities and a book fair.

The highlight of the year was when the Library Club celebrated National Library Week. During this week, the helpers and the library staff presented special programs to advertise the library.

Office helpers

The students that help in the office must have good academic standing. Students not only help the office, but the rest of the school as well. They run errands, file, and help teachers in the halls.

"If it were not for the student helpers, this office could not run successfully," Ms. Boomer says. Office helpers are greatly appreciated by everyone at Kellam.

Guidance helpers

The guidance aids are of great help to the counselors. The aids run errands, answer questions, and complete other various tasks. The aids do all this so the counselors have time for their most important business: you.

Clinic helpers

As a doctor needs a nurse, a nurse needs assistants. Every bell, except sixth when the clinic is closed for lunch, Nurse Kowalski employs a student as her aide. These students help the nurse by checking temperatures, cleaning minor wounds and preparing ice packs. They also keep the daily log in order and call students to the clinic for screening of heights and weights.

Participating in each bell are: 1st — Leslie Hatfield: 2nd — Karen Corbin; 3rd — Lisa Elwell; 4th — Amy Twiford; 5th — Sandra Price; 7th — Carol Loftus.

Languages and Drama

French Club

This year's French Club officers included President, Natalie Russell; Vice President, John Uhrin; Secretary, Arcel Castillo; Treasurer, Robert Uhrin; and Reporter Historian, Anita Sayles.

Fundraisers included a Rock-a-thon and selling traditional items. Foreign Language week promoted the culture and language of France. French films were shown at Princess Anne High School to celebrate the festive occasion.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club officers include President, Aileen Bagtas; Vice-President, Christy Bantay; Secretary, Lisa Karsen, and Treasurer, Sandy Jasinskas. The club had fundraisers, such as, the Candy Gram Sale, a very successful Christmas Candle Sale, and a profitable Valentine's Day Carnation Sale. Although membership was very low this year, the Spanish Club has prospered from the hard work of all the members, especially their sponsor, Ms. Bosch.

German Club

The 1985-86 German Club's purpose was to increase the awareness and appreciation of the German culture.

The German Club participated in trips to a German restaurant and a trip to Busch Gardens.

Some of the privileged members took part in a trip to Southern Germany, Austria, and Switzerland.

Mr. Bradshaw was the sponsor for this year's club.

Drama Club

This year's Drama Club consisted of many talented members, including the President, Valerie Rosenhauer; Vice-President, Heather Barclay; Secretary, Wendy Middleton; and Reporter Historian, Brian Jones.

Their performances included Rehearsal for Murder, "Once Upon A Playground," "Mother Goose Madness," Bye Bye Birdie, "Make Believe It's You," and "Knights Live."

Thespians

The 1985-86 Thespian Troupe consisted of the President, Valerie Rosenhauer; Vice-President, Heather Barclay; Secretary, Wendy Middleton; Reporter Historian, Brian Jones; and other dedicated members.

These students participated in the Neptune Festival, Virginia. State Thespian Conference, and the International Thespian Conference. They won two first place awards and one third place award.

Technical Crew

The Drama Department owes much of the success of its productions to the backstage and technical crew. An example of their performance was the ease of the Variety Show. The lighting and sound system were much improved over last year and the many props were moved on and off stage quickly and quietly.

The Pride of Virginia Beach
The Marching Knights

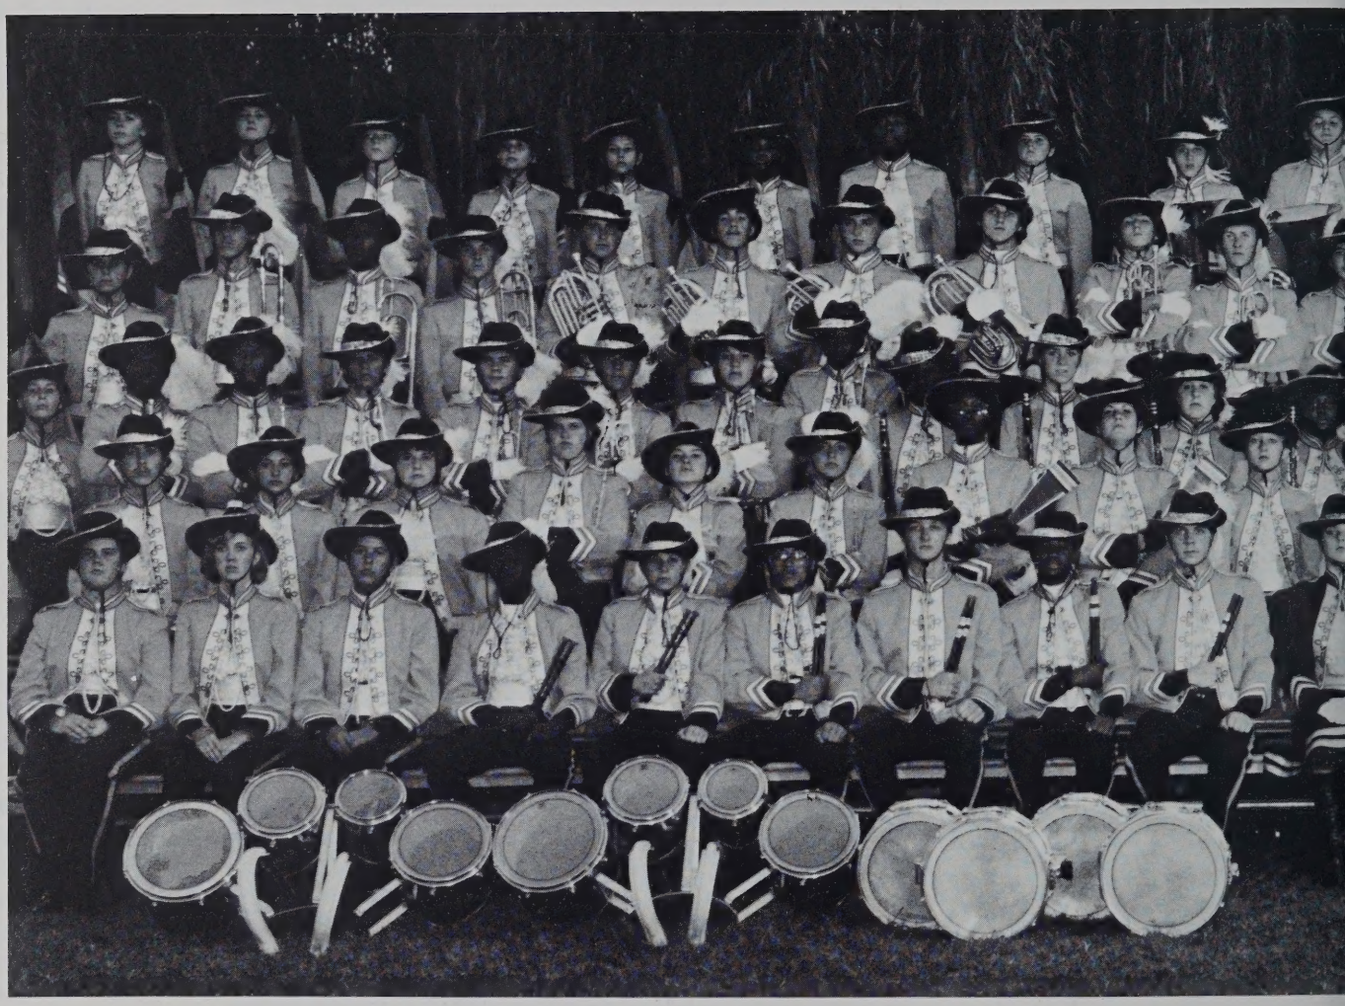
The 1985-86 Band

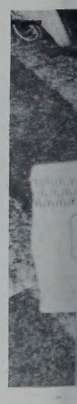


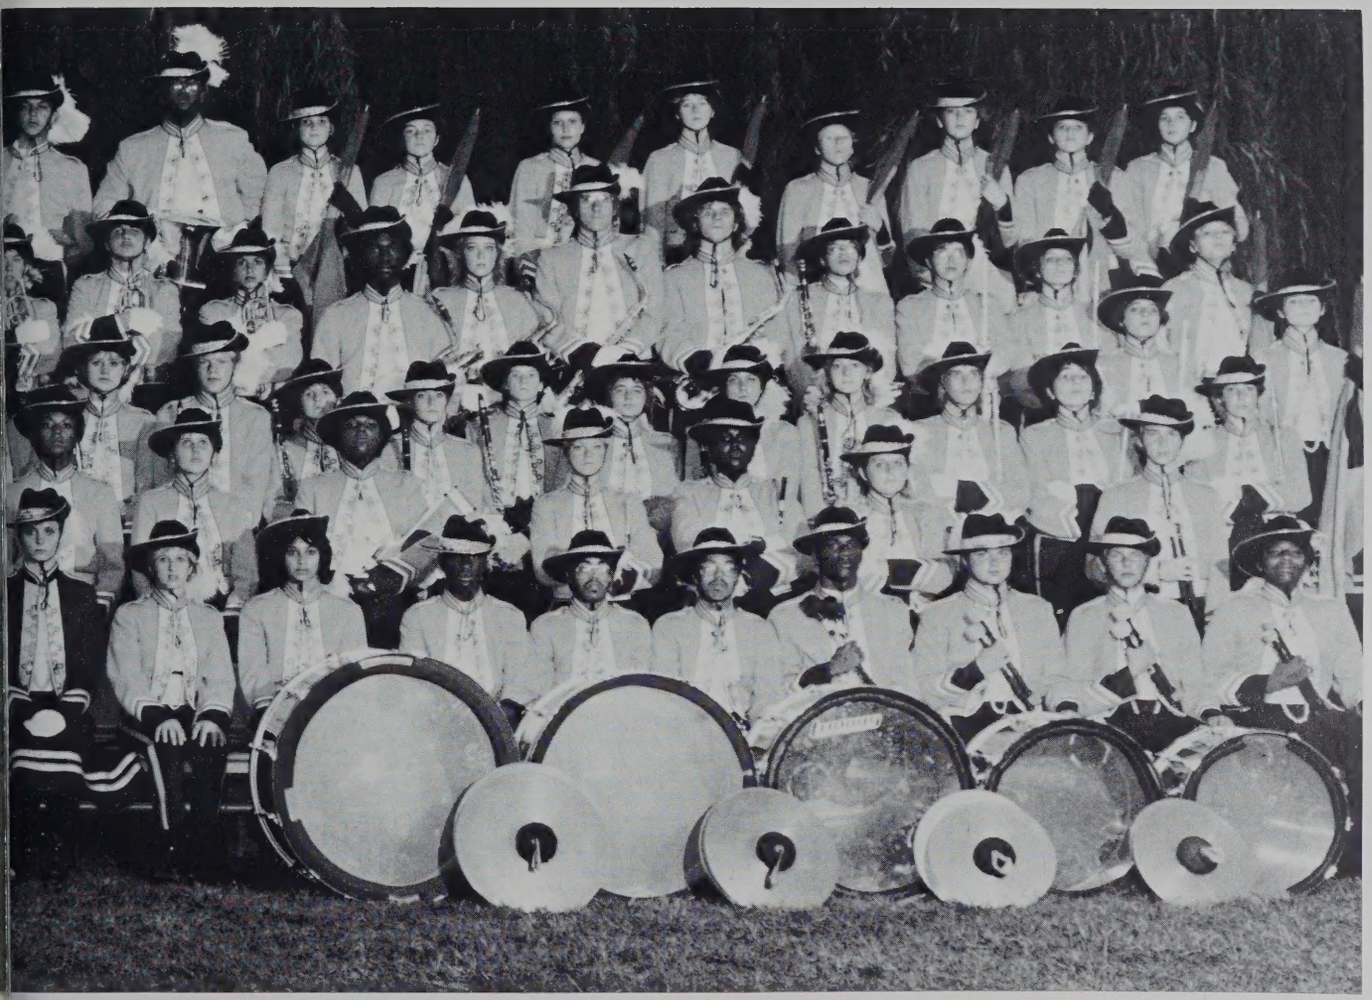
Performing at the halftime shows for football games, the Kellam Marching Knights exhibited the style and grace that won them a number of awards this year.

The band put on shows for the school, and also competed in many competitions throughout the state. A variety of awards were won, and the band has achieved a sense of worth.

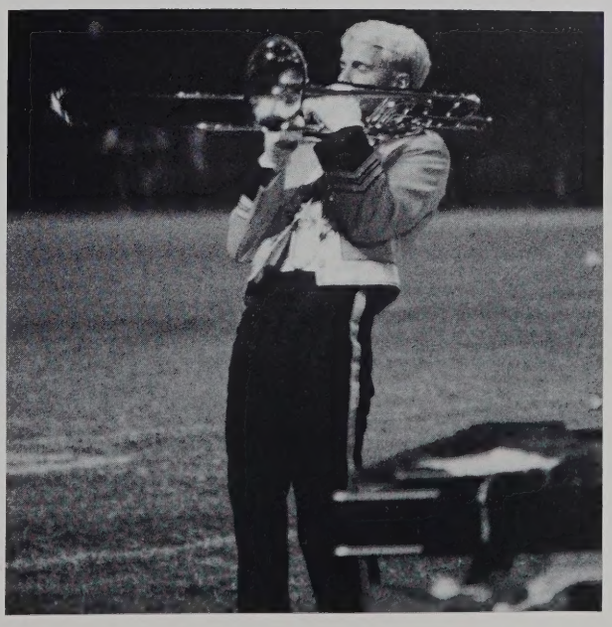
The band deserves many congratulations for a great year and hopes for better success next year.

The drummers work much longer than the rest of the band to perfect their craft.





Mike Marrero catches some "Z's".



Andrew Cartwright plays a beautiful trombone solo.

The Show Choir sings and dances their way into everyone's heart that they meet.

The Madrigals and Show Choir

"They must be willing to put time and effort into it," said sponsor and co-director Jessica Scarengella, referring to her students that make up the Madrigals, Concert Chorus, and Show Choir, which was just formed this year.

These elite groups of students are selected by auditions only. They are a special group of talented individuals with exceptional singing, dancing and acting abilities. They worked hard to get where they are; many of them take private lessons on their own.

The main purpose of these groups is performing to strengthen cultural bonds and ties between school and community.

But according to Ms. Scarengella, they also "create beauty, promote ecstatic experience and to have a lot of fun."

The Madrigals are the elite singers of Kellam High School.

The Kellam Key Club

Following in the footsteps of their sponsor group, the Kiwanis, the Kellam Key Club has become an important student service organization. Led by our four officers, Sherri Fierro, president, Glenn McClanan, vice-president, Vicki Ammons, secretary, and Kim Mangan, treasurer, and our sponsor, Mr. Eib, the Key Club works hard to help both the school and community.

It is involved in a variety of service projects, some of which include a visit to the Russell House in Norfolk, Mr. Weiss's run for Special Olympics, and gathering food for charity. This responsible, hard-working organization is continuing its long tradition of service and charity, and it always lives up to this year's Key Club Motto: "Caring: Our Way of Life."

The Key Club: "Caring: Our Way of Life."

The Literary Arts Staff displays their talent.

Literary Arts

Put together with the work of many different Kellam students, this year's Literary Arts Magazine proved to be one of the finest in the area.

This student-oriented publication was sold in the spring, boasting original writing, poems, cartoons, plays, musical pieces, and social comments written by the students. All of the editing and selection was also done by the students and this formed the final product.

The students gained experience in the professional magazine format. A professional style was used, and was then put into magazine form. All of the work for the publication was done by the students, and the magazine was distributed throughout Kellam.

The staff is headed by sponsor Ray Dorosz. The eight member staff is led by the editor and president, William Drummond. The staff met twice a month throughout the school year.

Language and Vocations

Latin Club

This year, the Latin Club has had an extremely productive year. Fund raisers include selling doughnuts to finance a trip to Roanoke for the Junior Classical League Convention.

Latin Club members also participated in Homecoming activities, Tidewater Certamen, the Latin Olympics, and a trip to Busch Gardens.

Forensics

Forensics is a club at Kellam that allows students the opportunity to participate in public speaking events such as original oratory, extemporanious speaking, poetry and prose reading and dramatic interpretation. Meets are held at the district and regional levels, and students are compared with their peers in each event. Forensics, an organization dedicated to quality, puts high demands on members for achievement.

Senior Class

The senior class of 1986 has had a prosperous year thus far and promises to end a successful year with a successful Senior Prom. They are presently engaged in a sale to raise money for the Prom, which is to be held on May 16 at the Sheraton Beach Inn.

FHA

The Future Homemakers of America Chapter at Kellam High School selected Health and Wellness as its theme for the 1985-86 school year. Chapter members were involved in receptions for Honor Roll students, cafeteria bulletin boards, a reception for Vocational Education Week, PTA Open House, a Virginia Beach Federation meeting, the March of Dimes Walk-a-Thon and the Pungo Strawberry Festival.

Proceeds from fundraising projects were used for donations to the FHA Scholarship Fund,and to send a delegate to the state conference in April.

AIASA

AIASA is the industrial arts club. They meet after school and build things out of wood and then sell them in fund raisers to get money for the club.

FBLA

FBLA is a co-curricular club designed for students in business classes. Fund raisers this year included a pizza sale, and at Christmas a giftwrap, bow and ornament sale.

FBLA members participate in competitions at regional, state and national levels. They also type as a service to the school. This year's officers were: Jackie Parker — President; Yvette Crowell — Vice President; Shannon Cunningham — Secretary; Ken Sorrells — Treasurer.

The academic pride of Kellam assembles in one large mass of intelligence.

National Honor Society

After years of dormancy as a club that di almost nothing, Kellam's chapter of the Nationa Honor Society has become one of the school' most active student organizations. It has mair tained its high standards in word and deed.

The National Honor Society is under the spor sorship of the National Association of Secondar School Principals. Each March a committee mad up of faculty members accepts faculty nomina tions of students and selects a small group c students who show leadership, scholarship, se vice, and citizenship. Next, these students ar "tapped" and given the choice of whether to joi the Honor Society or not. The students who accep are inducted at a semi-formal ceremony in lat March.

This year, the National Honor Society of Kellar has lived up to its purpose: ". . . to create enthu siasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to rer der service, to promote leadership, and to develc character in the students of secondary schools

Debate Team

For students who prefer program of a noncombat activity, the Debate Team provides many thrilling alternatives.

Debate gives students a chance to excell at public speaking and enhancement of argumentative skills. It also teaches all about "water quality," which is this year's topic.

Debate also looks terrific on a college transcript, and gives students a chance to travel to exotic locations such as Bethel and Great Bridge High Schools.

The debate squad, headed by Ms. Self, accumulated an outstanding record of eighteen wins and ten losses over the last seven tournaments. This includes a third place varsity trophy. More important, though, they helped put Kellam on the map in academic circles.

The team encourages participation by all who seek a challenge and who have the will-power to get up at five-thirty on Saturday morning to attend matches.

The gift of witty and descriptive speech abounds in this group of students.

The Spirit of Kellam

Attempting to instill school spirit, the Spirit of Kellam club cheered on the teams and athletes to victory this year.

They completed their first year successfully, receiving support from about thirty members. Not only did they attend a number of games, but they also attended such functions as plays and concerts. Their main purpose is to "try to enthuse the students of Kellam," said sponsor Beverly Torok. They meet and attend such events as football games, basketball games, and wrestling matches.

On days when more than one event took place, they split in order to support all of the teams. In order to raise money, the club sold car stickers at the beginning of the year.

The club is led by President Mike Marrero and vice-president Jimmy Bush.

GOOOOOO Kellam

Stuck in the middle.

The Junior Class

Working on fund raisers all year, the Junior Class Representatives found themselves very busy. Their main purpose, of course, was to plan the Junior Ring Dance.

The first part of this project was to raise enough money. They accomplished this by working all year for this one purpose, the dance. Their meetings consisted of discussing the plans for the dance.

The dance took place at the Sheraton Beach Inn in their beautiful new ballroom. The turnout proved successful.

"The purpose was to cross over the bridge from the Junior Class to the Senior Class," stated sponsor of the junior class Shearin Anderson. "We wanted it to be really good and memorable."

In order to accomplish this, the Junior Class Representatives met bi-weekly in order to plan the fund raisers and make decisions. The staff was headed by president Ace Willis.

Brains, Beauty, and Others

Cheerleaders

This year's Kellam cheerleaders made a valiant effort to promote school spirit and enthusiasm. Co-captains Kim Black and Michele Englehard led the rest of the cheerleaders through many victories and few disappointments.

Math and Computer Club

The Math and Computer club came up with a new method for picking up dates. It is called Data-Match. Many people responded to the unique way to find a partner. This turned out to be a great success. If you have never had a date, this is what you need. Many students said that it would be interesting to find out who their perfect match will be.

S.C.A.

If you're not sure what S.C.A. does, then we'll tell you. It is a board of members who make decisions about what goes on in school. From every class there are two representatives who should report back to class and tell other students about what's going on. In turn, each students will feel they have contributed to the school and they are aware of the activities going on at school.

Junior Civitan

The Junior Civitan, a charitable organization, raised over $200 for Toys for Tots at Christmas and sponsored the annual blood drive in the Spring.

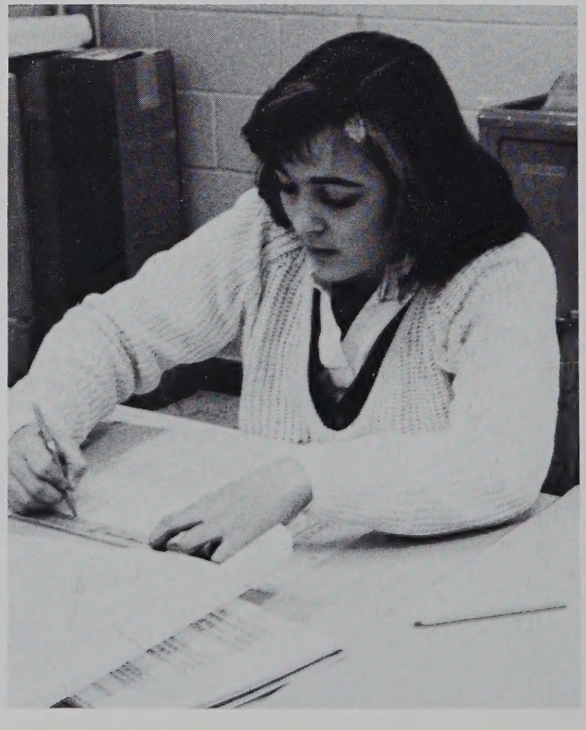
The Challenger Staff . . . A Hardworking Crew

Mike and Laura enjoy a rare moment's leisure.

Gina breaks for a smile.

This year's Yearbook Staff has consisted of a number of highly dedicated and enthusiastic students. These students have consistently given their all, which includes working on the yearbook during their free time and into all hours of the night. Some of the more dedicated members are the Advisor, Mr. Jarrell; Editor, Laura Gorsuch; Copy-Editor, Glen Blandford; Tom Bacho, Wendy Clark, Charyl Ellis, Gina Giordano, Barbara Johnson, Gary Rasnic, and Tom Benson.



Patti Besau, proofing the index.

Wendy Adams copying a layout.

Wendy Clark, an exceptional yearbook staffer.

Catherine Kellam contributed much of her time to the Challenger.

Laura Gorsuch, the Challenger's dedicated leader.

Charyl Ellis, a valuable member of the Challenger.

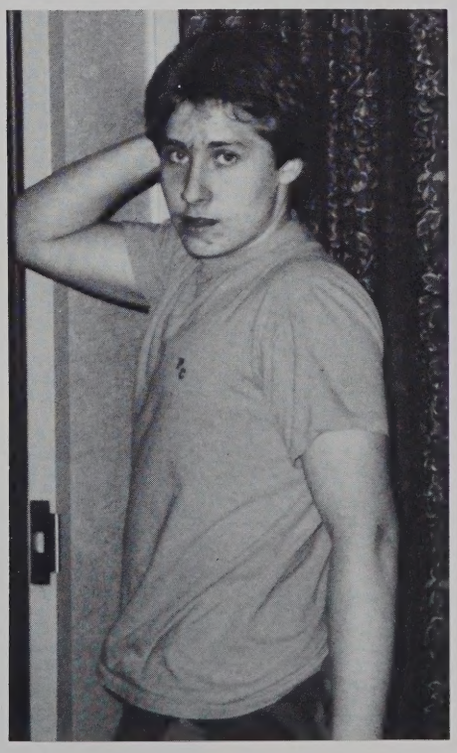
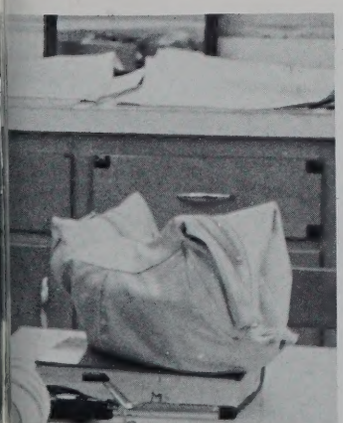
Tom Bacho tries to be sexy.





The western sky at night that man has chosen to explore, develop and respect.

Man has conquered the sky and space, but this year, the space shuttle disaster demanded a long reverence for the power the unknown holds.

The 1985-86 Challenger is dedicated to the memory of the crew of the Challenger space shuttle. All seven members were courageous men and women who well-deserved to be fondly remembered.

Although the yearbook staff has had its problems and inconsistencies, I'm glad I had the chance to work with every member. All work, no matter how seemingly unimportant, was necessary and help finishing it was greatly appreciated. Like the yearbook staff, Kellam High School is also a working group.

Every individual contributes something, and therefore makes a difference.

This school year has been one of many awakenings. The fact that Kellam continues to climb the ladder of success is a known fact. Academically, athletically and socially, Kellam is leaving its "farm school" image. That Kellam is destined to be number one is "written in the stars."
